

Jackie Caillier

Jackie was born on September 27, 1952, and raised in Orange, Texas.

He has played with “Andrew Cormier and the Rambling Aces,” “Joe Bonsall and the Orange Playboys,” “Lisa Cormier and the Sundown Playboys,” and “Walter Mouton and the Scott Playboys.” Two other people that influenced Jackie's life were Dallas Roy, a family friend, and Ivy Dugas, a distant relative.

Jackie has been recognized for his records, performances and talents since 1995. A 3-time winner of “Accordionist of the Year,” he led his band, “The Cajun Cousins,” to the upper echelon of Cajun music.

“Jackie Caillier, Ivy Dugas and the Cajun Cousins,” a group of Cajun musicians rooted around the Louisiana-Texas border played in clubs, private parties, restaurants, and a variety of functions throughout Louisiana and Texas.

“Jackie Caillier, Ivy Dugas and the Cajun Cousins” have been recognized at The Cajun French Music Association Awards over the years with awards such as, “Band of the Year,” “Album of the Year,” “Vocalist of the Year,” “Song of the Year,” “Accordionist of the Year,” and “People's Choice Awards.”